

PERFECT cable glands
for Solar applications

Investment in the future

Jacob
We have more in common

For your special Solar-application - The PERFECT cable gland

The PERFECT cable gland is not only suitable for use in electrical engineering but also for special applications in the solar area.

The technical properties of the PERFECT cable gland provides ideal conditions für weather caused conditions - places, which have to withstand extreme pressures.

The PERFECT cable gland has a high temperature range from -20°C to +100°C, is easy to install and has an excellent and cable protection anchorage.

The approved protection grade IP68 prevent the admission of dust and water and guarantee reliable installation of your cable.

Further advantages:

- Polyamide PA6 with (f1)-classification according to UL 746C and fire class V-0 according to UL94
- with VDE- and UL- approvals
- wide range of accessories